

Sew, what's up with the NEW 97C & 97D?

Designed by a BERNINA Dealer, this new foot is wider in the rear and left side. The  $\frac{1}{4}$ " seam is still guided on the outside of the right toe, but after the needle, the foot gets wider.

IF, for some reason you need to stitch on the left side of the foot, just guide the fabric on the inside of the left toe. It's all about more of the feed dogs touching the foot. It also explains why many people years ago complained about that "little" clear foot\*. While it was a  $\frac{1}{4}$ ", it was not known for how well it fed the fabric. Does anyone even still use one of those??

If you own a 9mm machine, this foot could become your new favorite! If you have the BERNINA DUAL FEED, you will want to own both!

For all those Loyal BCS customers, you many purchase 1 foot of each for every appropriate 9mm machine you own. Your purchase MUST appear in our data base.

You will automatically get 30% off of the MSRP. This loyalty perk is a way to say THANK-YOU to all those who have supported BCS.

*Was not a BERNINA presser foot.

Sorry, past non-qualifying machine purchases do not count.
